

Know the Signs of Diaper Rash

Diaper rash can show up in different ways. Look for these signs to recognize it.

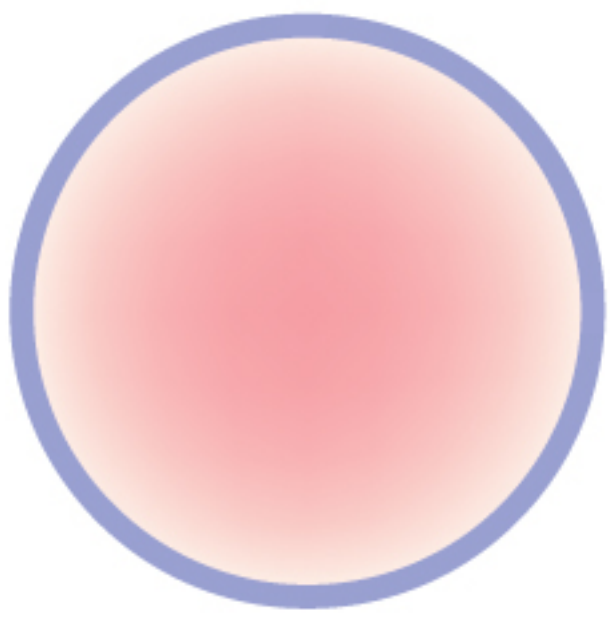

Common symptoms:

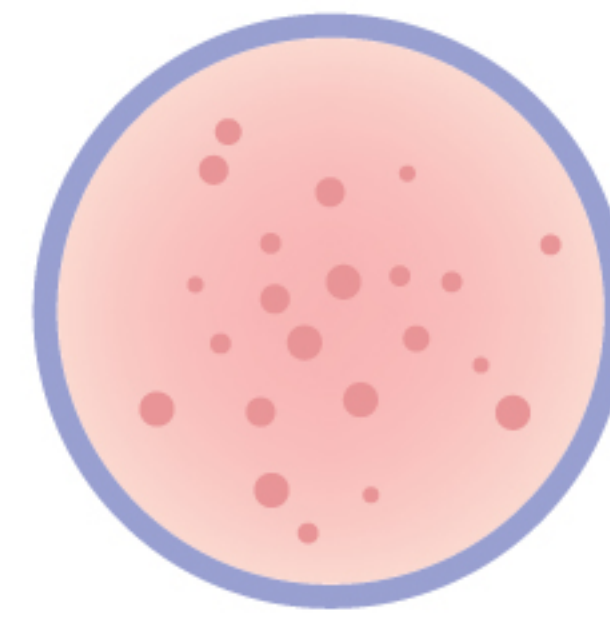

Pink or red tender-looking skin (small or large patches)

Dry, irritated skin

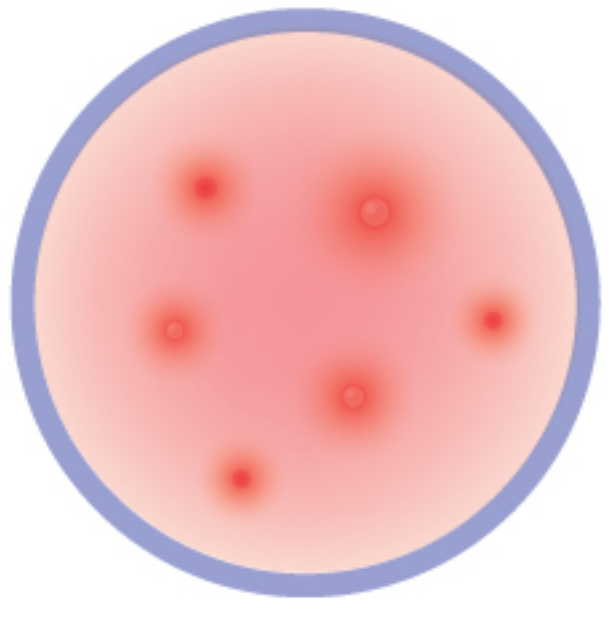

Swelling

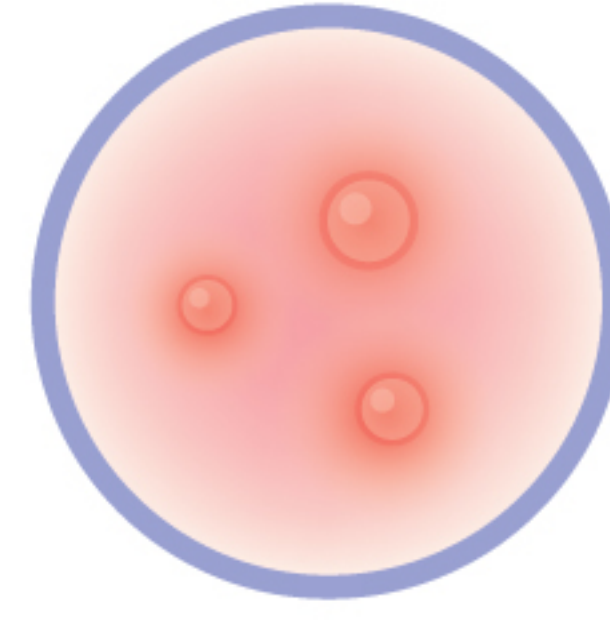

Raised bumps

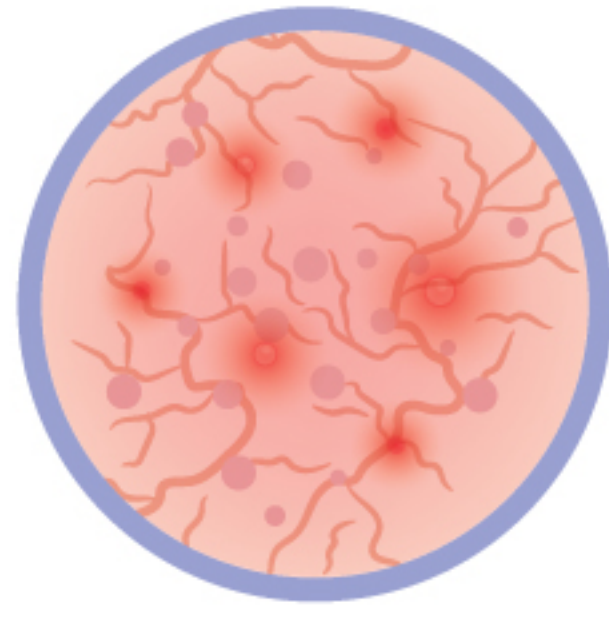

If untreated, it could develop into:

Sores

Blisters

Yeast or bacterial infections (including peeling skin, scabs, and pus)

Call the doctor if...

1

The rash hasn't responded to treatment in 2-3 days

2

Your baby has both diaper rash and a fever

3

You see signs of a yeast or bacterial infection (like sores with pus)

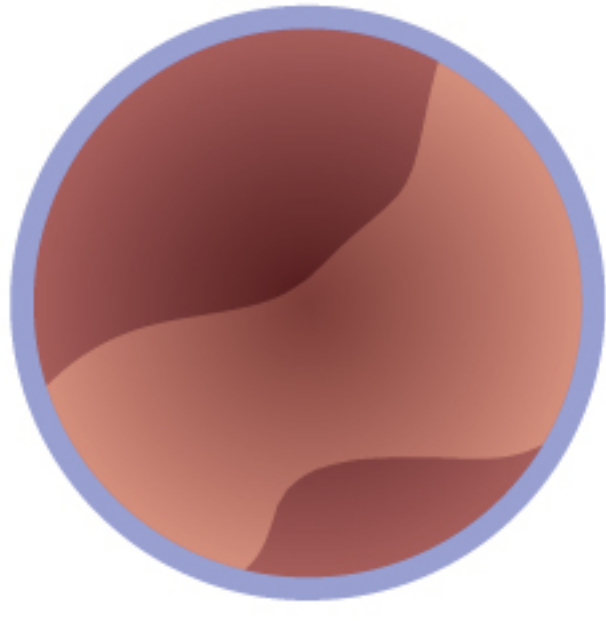

Help stop diaper rash before it starts by changing diapers often and using diapers and wipes to keep skin dry and healthy, like Huggies®.

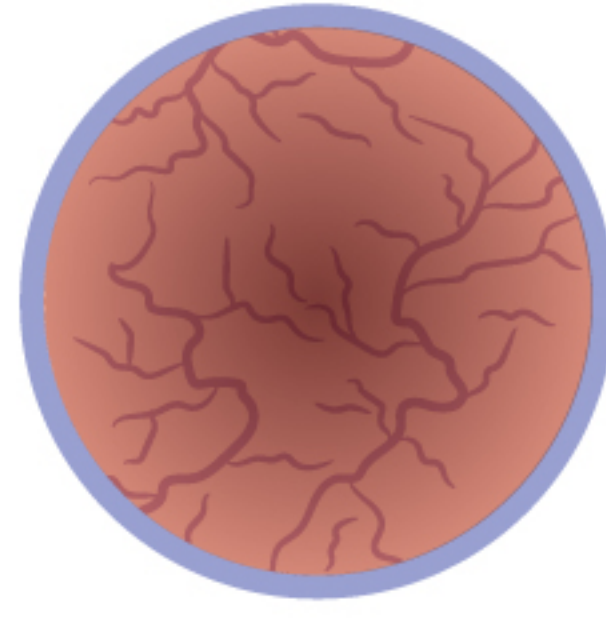

Know the Signs of Diaper Rash

Diaper rash can show up in different ways. Look for these signs to recognize it.

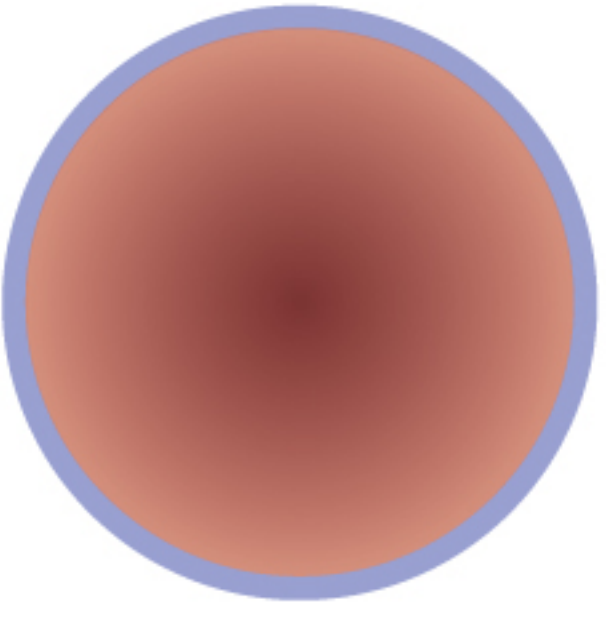

Common symptoms:

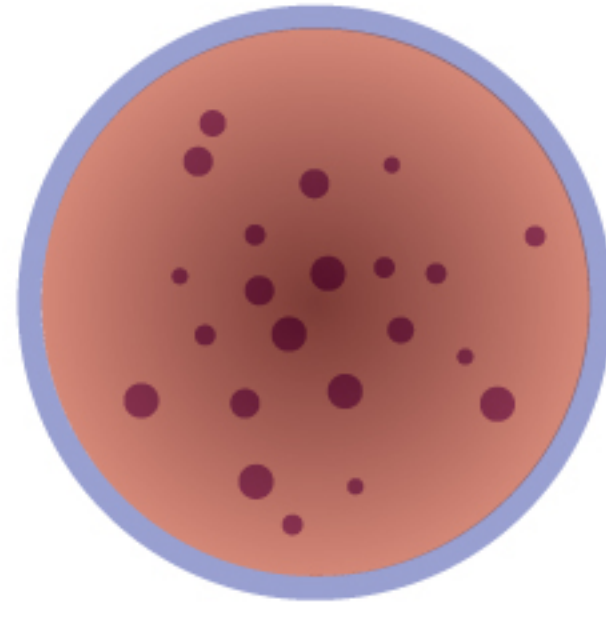

Pink, red or violet tender-looking skin (small or large patches)

Dry, irritated skin

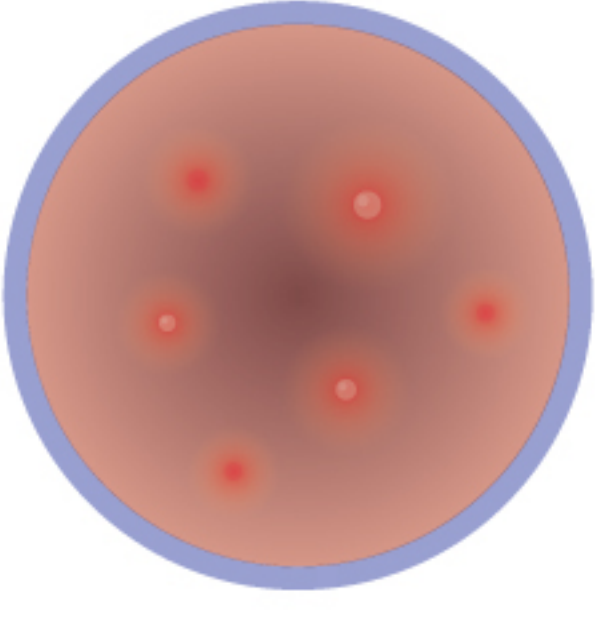

Swelling

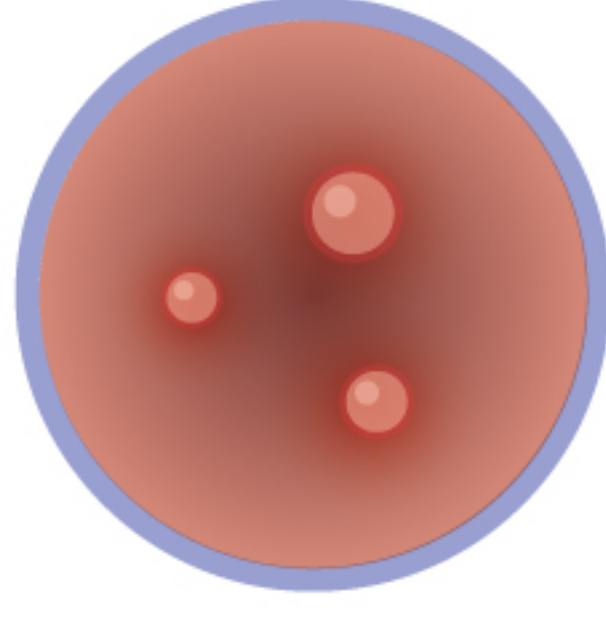

Raised bumps

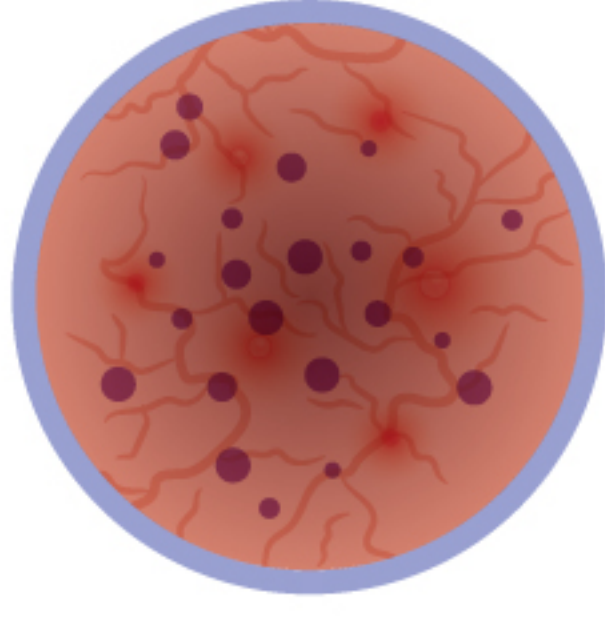

If untreated, it could develop into:

Sores

Blisters

Yeast or bacterial infections (including peeling skin, scabs, and pus)

Call the doctor if...

1

The rash hasn't responded to treatment in 2-3 days

2

Your baby has both diaper rash and a fever

3

You see signs of a yeast or bacterial infection (like sores with pus)

Help stop diaper rash before it starts by changing diapers often and using diapers and wipes to keep skin dry and healthy, like Huggies®.